Mesa System Documentation

Version 6.0
October 1980

This document describes configurations of the Alto/Mesa system software and the individual components which comprise them. These components include runtime support for the language, routines for manipulating the Alto display, keyboard, and file system, facilities for loading client programs and building new systems, and a number of useful common software packages.